Morgenthau Places Huge Tax Plan In Hands of Congress

Nine and a Half Billion Program "To Be Felt In Every Home"; Doubling of Most Individual Income Tax Rates Is Proposed

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 3.—A $9,610,000,000 war tax program "to be felt in every American home" was laid before congress and the nation today by Secretary Morgenthau.

"The new taxes will be severe, and their impact will be felt in every American home," the treasury chief told the house today and means committee. "War is never cheap, but it is a million times cheaper to win than to lose."

The additional taxes which he proposed would, by themselves, be greater than ever collected by the federal government in a single year prior to 1941.

Morgenthau asked doubling of most people's individual income tax, with rates so stiff that a single man with a $2,000 salary would pay $230 tax and if he made $1,000,000 would only be allowed to keep about $100,000. Part of the tax probably would be deducted from pay checks.

He also recommended higher taxes on corporations, plugging of so-called loopholes, new and higher excise taxes on 15 items such as soda pop and cigarettes, stiffer estate and gift taxes, plus $2,000,000,000 in additional social security taxes to be specified later.

Together with existing federal taxes, the secretary said, this program would fulfill President Roosevelt's budget request for $27,000,000,000 of taxes in the coming fiscal year, beginning July 1.

Morgenthau, in laying the program before the ways and means committee, summed up his proposals this way:

From increased individual income taxes	2,200,000,000
From increased corporation taxes	3,060,000,000
From increased estate, gift taxes	330,000,000
New and increased excise taxes	1,340,000,000
From plugging loopholes	680,000,000
Apparent total	8,610,000,000
Less conflicting taxes	1,000,000,000
Net total increase	7,610,000,000

Explains Conflicts
He explained that the $1,000,000,000 reduction was necessary in his estimates because in many cases an increase in one tax may reduce the revenue from another. For instance, the more taxes paid by corporations, the less dividends will be received by individuals, cutting individual tax estimates.

Morgenthau said the money was needed not only to pay for war materials, but also to check inflation. "We should, therefore, tax so as to withdraw the greatest possible volume of purchasing power at this time, when money incomes are high and the quantity of goods for civilian use is shrinking day by day because of the demands of our war effort."

He reiterated his opposition to general sales taxes. "The cost of this war will have to be borne by everyone," he asserted. "It will be borne willingly and cheerfully if the principle of ability to pay is followed."

Most of his recommendations merely increased tax rates without disturbing the ordinary methods of computing taxes. For instance, the secretary specifically asked retention of the present $750 income tax exemption for single persons, and $1,500 for married persons, with $400 additional credits for dependents.

Would Remove Income Credit
However, he did ask removal of the 10 per cent earned income credit, and, renewing a proposal beaten by congress last year, urged that married couples be required to file joint returns.

Under his plan, the first dollar of

DR. KOLBE, 60, DIES IN PHILADELPHIA

Funeral service was conducted at 2 p. m. today at the Billow chapel in Akron for Dr. Parke Rexford Kolbe, 60, who died Saturday night at his home in Philadelphia.

Dr. Kolbe, president of Drexel Institute of Technology, taught in Salem High School at one time. His subjects were German and Latin and he was one of the most popular teachers in the early 1900's.

A native of Akron, Dr. Kolbe was graduated in 1901 from Buchtel college, which later became University of Akron. He took post graduate work in American and European schools, taught in Salem High School for three years and in 1906 returned to Akron, where he succeeded his father, Dr. Carl F. Kolbe, as professor of modern languages at Buchtel college.

He became president of the college in 1913, at the age of 31, was the first president of the University of Akron which was founded in 1914 and remained as its head until 1925. In that year he became president of the Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn and was named head of Drexel in 1932.

He traveled extensively and made educational surveys in Russia and the Hawaiian Islands. Author of several books on educational subjects, he also frequently contributed to educational and philosophical publications.

Surviving are his widow, Lydia, of Philadelphia, and two sister-in-laws in Akron.

JAP ASSAULT TROOPS HELD ON 3 FRONTS

N. E. I. Government Moved From Batavia to Inland Bandoeng

DEFENSE FACING FORMIDABLE TASK

Full-Scale New Offensive Is Believed Near In Burma Sector

BY ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

American, British and Dutch troops were reported taking the offensive in Java today to drive Japan's invasion hordes into the sea, and the Dutch high command announced that Japanese assault forces had been checked in all three battle sectors.

While the situation thus somewhat improved, the Dutch acknowledged that the N. E. I. government had been removed from the capital city of Batavia to inland Bandoeng, and gloom pervaded Dutch quarters in London over the long-range outlook.

A Reuters (British news agency) dispatch from Bandoeng, headquarters of the Dutch command, said the Allies had started a counter-offensive.

Informed London quarters, however, said the defenders still faced a formidable task although they were fighting "extremely well."

Waves of Japanese bombers, escorted by fighters, heavily pounded Bandoeng for an hour and a half, with only a bare handful of Allied planes available to fight off the attack.

While the Dutch declared the three invasion columns had been temporarily halted, it seemed clear that with the indicated dwindling of allied aerial strength the position was still supremely critical.

On the Burma front, British and Imperial Indian troops now under direction of Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, who was shifted from Java to lead the joint Burma-India defense were reported holding firmly along the Sittoung river line.

A full-scale new Japanese assault was believed in the offing, however, after eight days of virtual stalemate.

One note of optimism sounded out of the general darkness of the Java situation.

"It can be stated without reservation that the situation remains well in hand on all fronts," an authorized Dutch spokesman told the Aneta agency late tonight.

PORK TAKEN FROM BLUE STAMP LIST

LISBON, March 3.—Recent sharp advances in pork prices have caused its removal from the list of foods available for blue stamps. Paul Smith, Columbiana county food stamp agent, was advised today by the federal surplus marketing administration.

With the exception of pork, the list of foods available under the stamp plan during March is the same as for February. The list includes eggs, butter, fresh grapefruit, pears, apples, oranges, and fresh vegetables (including potatoes), corn, meal, dried prunes, hominy (corn) grits, dried edibles, beans, wheat flour, enriched wheat flour, self-rising flour, enriched self-rising flour and whole wheat (gram) flour.

Attendance at schools here, as well as in other communities, was reported way below normal today.

WPB Is Now Style Arbiter; Men To Wear "Victory Suits"

Two-Pants Suits, Vests for Double-Breasted Suits Banned; Overcoats Shortened, Frill-less

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 3.—The war production board today became style arbiter for the nation with a decree permitting only cuffless, pleatless and frill-less "victory suits" to be manufactured for men and boys from March 30 on.

Rules out entirely were two-pants suits, vests for double-breasted suits, full dress coats, the cutaway and double breasted tuxedo coat. Those addicted to evening wear must be content with the single-breasted tuxedo suit.

Overcoats, too, came under the order which is expected to save 40 to 50 million pounds of wool for the armed forces. They will be shorter and less full than present topcoats or overcoats, and will have no belts, cuffs on sleeves, outside patch pockets or fancy backs.

To the casual observer the only noticeable change in men's suits will be the absence of trouser cuffs, WPB said. The board feared an abrupt style change would start a buying rush for "victory suits" which would defeat the conservation aims of the order.

Suit coat lengths will be three-fourths of an inch shorter than the average now worn, and topcoats and overcoats will be two to four inches shorter—which "continues the style trend already under way," WPB added.

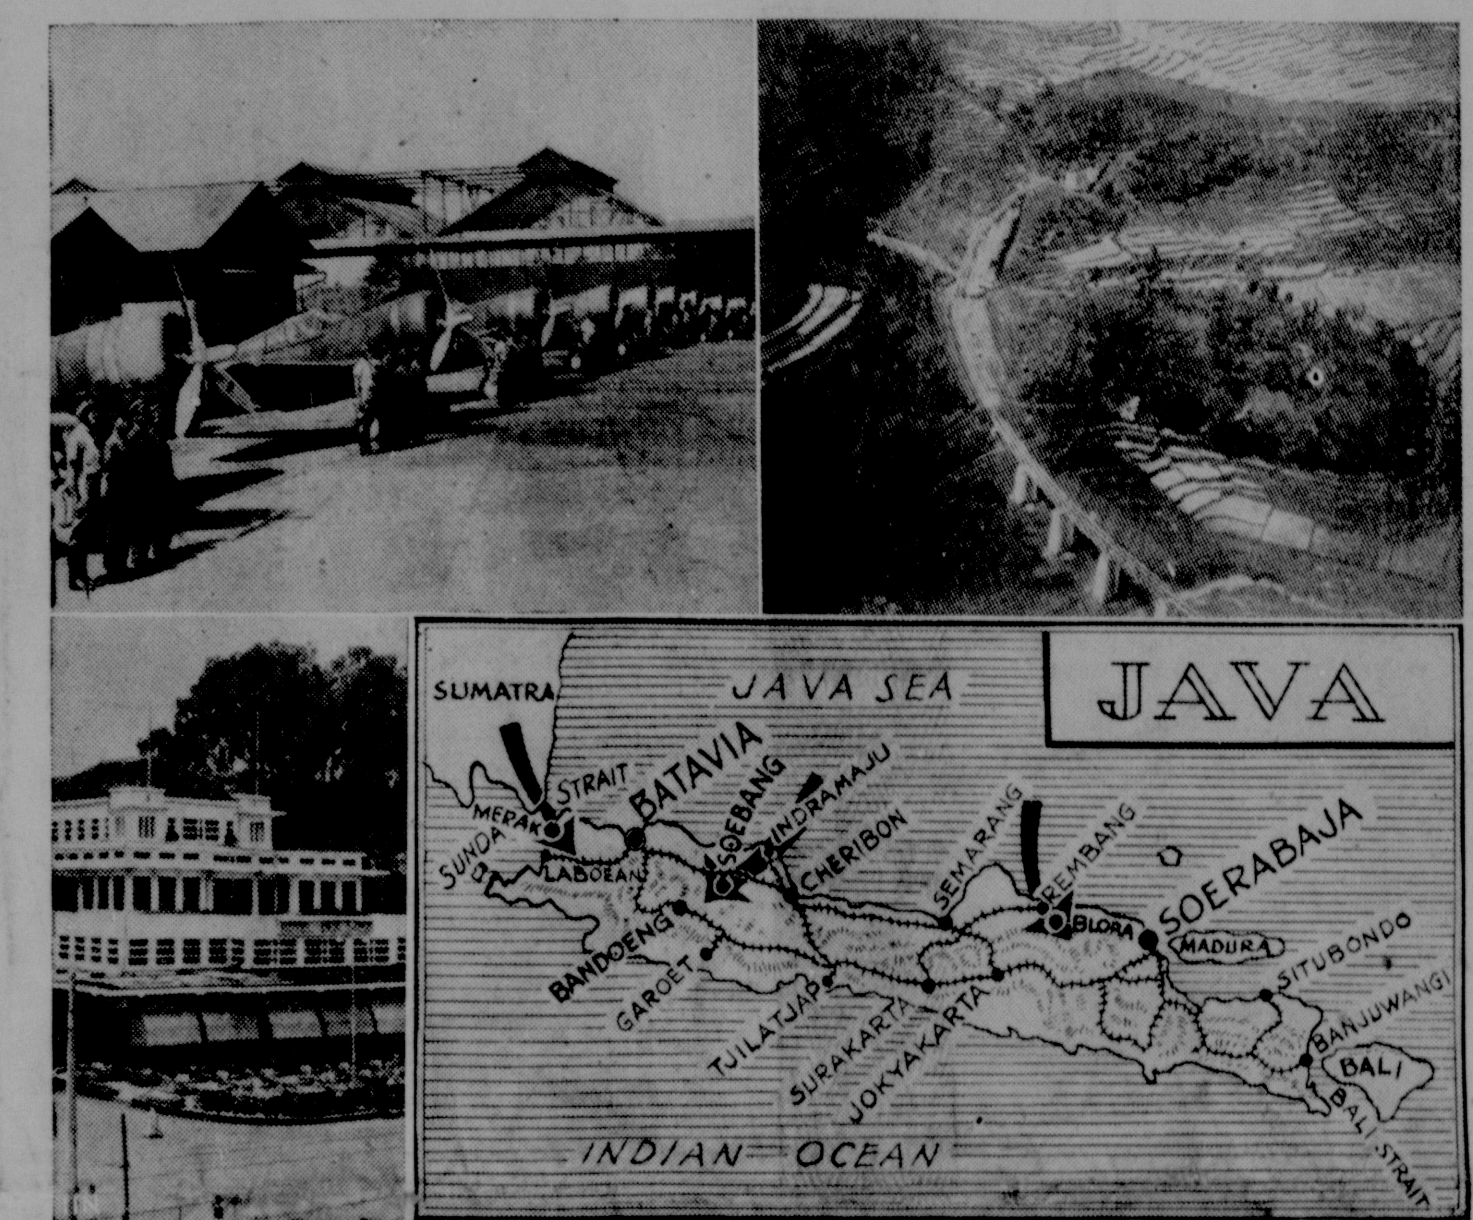

Merchant tailors and "tailors-to-the-trade" will not become subject to the order until May 30, because most of them have substantial stocks of cut goods on hand.

The complete list of suit regulations:

1. No vests for double-breasted suits.

SNOW BLANKET HITS TRAFFIC

Four-and-a-Half-Inch Fall Recorded Here; Schools Feel Effects

Salem and other eastern Ohio communities were blanketed today by a heavy snowstorm which left huge drifts, snarled city and highway traffic and accounted for a large number of absentees among school pupils. Many school buses failed to make their complete rounds.

Four and one-half inches of snow were recorded here. In other parts of the state it ranged as high as nine inches, the Associated Press reported.

A stiff wind and comparatively moderate temperatures accompanied the storm, which started last night. Trucks and automobiles were stalled on roads throughout the Columbiana-Mahoning county area this morning, despite the night-long efforts of state highway department crews to keep curves and hills cleared.

John Burton, 21, of Detroit, was injured near Alliance in an accident attributed to the snow.

Attendance at schools here, as well as in other communities, was reported way below normal today.

WAVELL RETURNS TO POST IN INDIA

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 3.—In Java's most desperate hour the Dutch took over supreme command of the fight for the Indies today after the United Nations acknowledged that Japanese successes had split the Allied front in the south Pacific, creating a grave threat to British India.

The removal of Sir Archibald Wavell as commander-in-chief in the Indies and his return to his former post as commander-in-chief in India was pointed evidence that the Allies expected the enemy drive through Burma to assume more formidable proportions.

Situation No Worse

The shift in commands, disclosed here by the army and navy in a joint statement, was not considered an indication of a sudden worsening of the situation in Java. The belief was that Wavell transferred to Burma before the Japanese opened their all-out assault on Java.

Ex-Service Men's Group Also Plans Permanent Roster Of Salemites In Armed Forces

A rousing sendoff for Salem men leaving for the Army will be the practice in the future, according to plans worked out by a committee of Charles H. Carey post, American Legion, in cooperation with other public-spirited Salemites.

The program will go into effect tomorrow when another selective service contingent departs for the army.

Flags To Fly

American flags will fly in front of most of the business houses in the downtown section and the Salem High school band will come to the draft board headquarters to play before the boys leave at 10:20 a. m.

The men affected by the Wednesday draft have been instructed to report at 9:45 a. m.

The American Legion's farewell committee includes R. L. Hutcheson, commander of the post, Lloyd Knox, John C. Litty, George Meiser, Charles O. Snyder, Harry de Malignon, Don Mayhew and Lawrence Beardmore.

Hutcheson also announced that the Legion was going to erect in front of the Legion home a permanent roster of Salem men serving in the nation's armed forces.

He explained that the Legion would obtain all of the names it could from the draft board, but that names of some men who volunteered early would have to be given to the Legion by parents and relatives. The Legion wants every man's name on the list.

The glass enclosed roster will measure eight by 14 feet and will

SUGAR RATIONING POPULATION IS SET

A Salem public school district population census of approximately 15,000 was certified today by Supt. of Schools E. S. Kerr for use by the state defense council in connection with the sugar rationing program which is expected to start in the near future.

The superintendent's actual population estimate, as given to John T. Burns, Columbiana county rationing coordinator, was 14,970.

Population surveys of the various school districts was ordered late last week by the state. School teachers are expected to handle the task of sugar rationing. High school teachers, it is understood, will release sugar to restaurants.

HITCH-HIKER HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

John Burton, 21, of Detroit, suffered severe injuries at 11:30 p. m. Monday when the automobile in which he and a companion had "hitched" a ride, overturned on Route 225, four and a half miles north of Alliance.

Taken to the Alliance City hospital, Burton was found to have suffered a possible skull fracture and severe scalp lacerations. His companion, Robert Connor, 21, also of Detroit, was uninjured.

Salem state highway patrolmen said that the boys had picked up a ride with two men, enroute to Pittsburgh. The car skidded on an icy curve in the road and upset. The officers said that after the two hitch hikers were taken by a passing motorist to the hospital, the other men apparently righted their car and drove away.

Fred F. Lindesmith, 36, of R. D. 4, Lisbon, and Leonard J. Chenevey, 31, of Wooster, escaped unhurt at 9 this morning when Lindesmith's truck skidded into the latter's car on Route 62 and the Johnson road west of Westville, the state patrol said.

Nazis Acknowledge Russians Opening New Assaults

(By Associated Press)
Massed Russian attacks "on a scale not hitherto reached in the war" were reported by a German military spokesman today, while Adolf Hitler's field headquarters acknowledged that the Red armies were unleashing powerful new assaults along the entire 1,200-mile front.

Fresh details were lacking on the battle of Smolensk, 120 miles south of Leningrad, where survivors of the German 16th army estimated at more than 90,000 troops were reported caught in a gigantic Russian encirclement.

The Nazi high command cited "strong attacks" on the Crimean and Ukraine (Donets river) fronts and "numerous enemy attacks" in other sectors of the long battle line.

Repulsed, Says Berlin

The high command said the attacks were either "frustrated" or repulsed after bitter fighting.

A Berlin military spokesman said the Russians were marshaling prodigious forces all along the front and attacking at times in 40 or 50 waves regardless of casualties.

JACOB JONES HIT BY TWO TORPEDOES

One Blasts off Bow, Second Explodes Depth Charges In Stern

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 3.—The navy announced today that the destroyer Jacob Jones was sunk by an enemy submarine off Cape May, N. J., before dawn on Feb. 28 and that only 11 men of the destroyer's crew survived.

The number of those lost, including the commanding officer, Lieutenant Commander H. D. Black of Oradell, N. J., was not given but was far more than 100 since the normal war time complement of the old destroyer was around 145 officers and men.

Hit By Two Torpedoes

Two torpedoes hit the Jacob Jones. The first one blew up the bow and apparently killed all personnel on the bridge as well as men sleeping in the forward living quarters of the ship. The second torpedo blew up the stern and all the depth charges.

The 11 survivors consisted of nine enlisted men from the engine room and two apprentice seamen.

Of the 11, only one was outside the amidships section when the stern was blown up. That one was in the after engine room.

In its communique reporting the sinking, the navy said that neither the enemy submarine nor the torpedo was sighted prior to the first hit.

After the first hit blew up the destroyer's bow, the submarine circled ahead of her and fired the torpedo which caused the terrible explosion of the depth charge in the stern.

The Jacob Jones was the ninth naval ship lost so far in the war, including the Reuben James, which was torpedoed last fall prior to formal U. S. declaration of war.

ELECTION BOARD IS RE-ORGANIZED

W. O. Wallace, Chairman; Wellsville Man Becomes New Member

Atty. W. O. Wallace of Columbiana was named chairman, and F. R. O'Hanlon of East Liverpool was re-elected clerk as the county election board reorganized at a meeting in East Liverpool yesterday afternoon.

Wallace, a Democrat, has been a member of the board for the last year and a half. O'Hanlon, Republican, has been clerk since 1938.

As chairman, Wallace succeeds C. V. Beatty, East Liverpool Democrat, who last month completed eight years as a member of the board.

Filling the vacancy left by Beatty's retirement, M. L. Clendenning, Wellsville Democrat, was installed as a new member of the board.

Other members are Mrs. Genesta Barr, Republican, of Lisbon, re-appointed, and A. L. Forney, Republican, of the East Palestine, a hold-over.

The board discussed plans for the special election at Summitville March 31. Summitville, incorporated as a result of voters' action at the November election will elect a mayor, a clerk, a treasurer, and six councilmen.

The board voted to limit the number of petitions in the hands of any candidate to a "reasonable number," depending on the office. Heretofore some candidates took out 20 to 30 petitions, the board contended, whereas only three or four were actually needed.

A proposal that candidates be compelled to fill out their own petitions, instead of leaving the task to the board, was lost when the board members split on party lines. Wallace and Clendenning proposed the plan, but Forney and Mrs. Barr voted against it.

WHEN IS NOW OR NEVER?

Soviet Ambassador Maxim Litvinov probably has spoken the biggest mouthful of 1942. If the countries interested in beating Germany and shattering the Axis can't come to Russia's aid this spring to do the first part of the job, he declares, they may be too late to help either themselves or Russia.

Here in a nutshell is the problem of anti-Axis strategy. The German and Japanese assaults have depended on exact timing; the strategy was to conquer before the defense could be rallied. Germany almost put Russia out of the war last summer and fall and still may be able to do it, despite winter reverses. Ambassador Litvinov is not sanguine about the prospects of stopping the spring drive that Hitler is preparing to launch on the eastern front. Meanwhile, Japan continues unchecked in the southwest Pacific. Now or never is now.

If Hitler were forced to fight in the west this summer, Russia probably could survive. That would be the turning point of the war. Germany and the Axis then would be doomed, because they could not secure their gains. In the opinion of Ambassador Litvinov, which undoubtedly reflects the opinion of Joseph Stalin and his war council, this is the turning point, a view in conflict with the hope of victory in 1943, held out by Prime Minister Churchill as spokesman for the United Nations.

The difference in viewpoints is part of the issue of military policy, now under discussion throughout the United States. Americans have turned skeptical about the master plan of fighting delaying actions till the enemy can be overwhelmed everywhere at once with a monster display of strength. The plan is not suited to the national character. It is not suited to the exigencies of the war either, as far as Russia, most formidable of the United Nations so far, is concerned.

CHOOSING SIDES

When the Nazi-Fascist sideshow barkers started to spiel that the Japanese, the Italians and the Germans all belonged to the same racial family, once or twice removed, the cards fell on the table face up. The three nationalities have only one thing in common, aside from being human beings—and there are some who doubt that, except as a purely physical resemblance. They are subjects of governments that have adopted a policy of looting.

In Germany, Italy and Japan, circumstances made it possible for individuals and organizations of rapacious natures to get control of the machinery of government. There is nothing new about a rapacious nature, of course. The Huns and Barbarians of the remote past weren't essentially different from the Huns and Barbarians of today, except that the modern version can get about faster and do more damage, thanks to high explosives and internal combustion engines. Looting and sacking are two of the oldest of all customs.

It is obvious that in all three countries there must be dissenters to the policy of plunder being followed. Certainly in the countries struggling to defend themselves against plunder there are some whose chief regret is that they are not in position to be doing the plundering; they see nothing intrinsically wrong in what Germany, Italy and Japan have set out to do and would welcome a chance to do it themselves. The war is a test of character.

All the absurd rot about racialism, nationalism and ideologies has been blown sky-high by plain evidence that the aggressors are bound together by nothing but their common interest in plunder, just as their designated victims have been forced into a tenuous alliance by their common need for protection. It is one of the rare moments in history when men are called on to choose sides on a basis of ethics. All who believe in taking what is not being adequately defended at a given moment belong with the modern Barbarians.

COURT OF LAST RESORT

The presidential order to change the draft classification of Ted Williams, Red Sox power hitter, has nothing to do with Mr. Roosevelt's fondness for baseball. It is an example of the safeguards of the selective service system.

A draft registrant may appeal from his board's decision to the district court of appeals. If not satisfied with the ruling of the court of appeals, he may take his case to the chief executive of the United States. Or, if the director of selective service in his state is dissatisfied with the way a registrant has been classified, he also has the privilege of taking the case to the White House, as a court of last resort.

There was considerable pointing with pride at the outset to the protection afforded the ordinary registrant. The Williams case, changing a registrant from 1-A to 3-A on grounds of a mother's dependency, shows how the safeguards work in actual practice. But it doesn't make Williams, with his $20,000 salary last year, very popular among patriotic fans.

NO ONE WILL EVER KNOW

The Associated Press roundup of starvation reports from Europe contains no surprising information. All the horrible details of human beings dying from hunger and trying to starve off their fate by eating pets could have been and were filled in when the war began. Germany has been more thorough in its looting than was anticipated. That is the only difference.

It still is argued that the United States should have obligated itself to feed the starving populations of Belgium, Poland, France, Greece and the other conquered countries. To the reply that Germany would have reaped the only benefit, by taking what ever was sent, it is answered that the gesture of humanitarianism alone would have been worth the trial—and perhaps some of the food would have reached its destination.

No one will ever know how it would have turned out now. Herbert Hoover's almost singlehanded effort to do something about it failed when the United States still was at peace; now that this government, too, has gone to war with Germany the possibility of helping the Nazi looters by trying to feed some of their wretched victims will be even more compelling than it was at first. It may turn out that Americans made a mistake by not sending enormous supplies of food into the invaded areas, but it might have turned out to be just as great a mistake to tempt a nation so well organized to take advantage of the good intentions of the peoples it intends to conquer.

does not have to guess what changes have occurred underneath a layer of skin, or skin and bone, or skin and chest wall.

Another advantage that he has is that he can apply treatment immediately to the diseased spot. Of course the dermatologist uses a number of remedies internally too, because a lot of skin lesions are simply manifestations of the absorption of toxic substances or other internal derangement. But on general principles, the best remedies which we have are for local applications in skin troubles. Many of these you have used or have in your medicine cabinet, but you may not know what the theory of their use is.

Skin Sedatives
One set of remedies which the skin specialist uses most effectively are sedatives to the skin. Itching, soreness and irritation of the skin are just as bad as pain, or worse, and these things the dermatologist can usually control.

One way of controlling them is simply by protecting the skin from the external air, covering it up with cover of cold cream or vaseline. This is, of course, the fundamental treatment of burns. Any excoriation of the skin which uncovers the tissues beneath is likely to be made worse by exposure to air.

For itching, one remembers the old saying that "Camphor is the morphine of the skin." That is why camphor is so soothing and why it appears in so many skin ointments. Camphor soothes the nerve ends that cause the itching and substitutes a sensation of coolness and calm for the sensation of irritation.

Zinc Oxide
Another remedy which is soothing to the skin is zinc oxide. A form of zinc oxide is calamine, usually used in the form of a lotion. Another powerful remedy for itching is carbolic acid in a weak solution. It actually paralyzes the nerve endings.

Another group of skin remedies depend on their antiseptic value. These either kill germs or prevent further germ growth. Prominent among these is ammoniated mercury, which is usually used in an

Sulphur
Similar to this are the substances which kill animal parasites. Sulphur is one of the best of these Salicylic acid, which is used in most preparations for ringworm, is one of the great standbys of the skin specialist. Another form of treatment is what is known as karatolysis—the destruction of the superficial layers of the skin. For instance, this is valuable in the treatment of corns. Salicylic acid, besides being an antiseptic, is also a karatolyzing agent. Others are the alkalis, such as potassium or sodium hydrate.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
P. M.—What causes shrinking gums that leave the upper part of the teeth exposed?

Answer: It is my belief that proper brushing of the teeth with a hard tooth brush—so hard as to be uncomfortable—which gets into the gum margin of every tooth, front and back, will do more to rectify this condition than anything else.

What do I do?

Keep motor oil at the "full" mark. Here's why...

The motor oil in your car does not one, but three jobs. It lubricates the engine... seals the pistons... cools the moving parts. It's true that your car will run even when the oil level is down considerably. But if you're running on 4 or 5 qts. when the motor was designed for 6, you're putting an extra burden on oil that already has plenty to do. Spare your engine by keeping the oil mark reading "full."

Accused Boy Struck at Inquest

At an inquest into the theater slaying of Dorothy Broz, 17, Clarence McDonald, 17, a former schoolmate of the girl who is held by police for the fatal shooting, was seen reeling when a spectator lurched out of line in the crowded room and struck the youth on the jaw. The spectator was identified as John Broz, an uncle of the girl. The dramatic picture above, taken just after the incident, shows McDonald rubbing his jaw.

"HUTCH" OF THE R.A.F. by PETER MUIR

CHAPTER ONE

The plane circled low, its single engine roaring and sputtering un- easily. The struts and fast turning propeller cut the air with a sound, half whistle, half hiss. It seemed to be in trouble, but the pilot man- euvered to a three point landing and cut the contact. Quickly he jumped to the wing, then to the ground, and began examining his motor.

"Wizard!" he exclaimed, after a moment. "Absolutely wizard!" While the Royal Air Force expres- sion, meaning that everything was fine, seemed familiar on his lips, there was the shadow of a southern drawl and a softness of voice that suggested Virginia rather than England as his home.

One side of his face was spattered with oil as was his flying suit and the leather helmet which he had thrown to the ground nearby. The reason for his enthusiasm was the sleek, shiny Spitfire pursuit plane which he had brought down in a forced landing on the fairway of a convenient golf links. He had feared that the oil leak might be serious, but careful examination showed that it was not. "I'll fix you in half a shake," he said, ad- dressing the plane. "Where's my—"

The sentence remained unin- terested. From a zipper-fastened pocket he drew a small wrench. "There you are, little fellow. Now—"

As he worked, dark, slightly curled hair dropped over his fore- head and into his eyes. Now and again he stopped to push it into place with the back of his hand, and once or twice he swore at it mildly. He spoke aloud to both the plane and to the wrench, quite as though they understood and might answer back. "There little fellow... tighter, please.... between us we'll get the old tin can rolling. Eh, old tin can? Now one more turn here...."

His tall, slender body was bent over and his head was practically in the motor. "There.... hum.... almost got it, little fellow." So intent was he on the job that he did not see a golf ball roll directly un- der the right wing. Nor did he see the girl, carrying only a midiron, follow the ball and stop beside him.

There was a smile on her face as she stood, feet slightly apart and holding her club firmly in both hands, watching him. Finally she spoke. "Would you mind mov- ing your plane," she said, "so that I can play my shot?"

"What shot?" he asked, without looking up.

"This is a golf course, you know."

"There's a war on," he said, still deep in his work. Then the beautiful quality of the half serious, half bantering voice, deep and musical, struck him and he looked up. "Oh, I—I'm so sorry. I didn't know—" He was about to say that he did not know she was so beautiful, and caught himself.

"You didn't know what?" the girl pursued, seeing that he was flustered, and enjoying what she understood was a compliment to her looks.

"Didn't know that your ball—I mean, that you were under my wing—I mean—"

Her laughter was so catching that they were soon laughing to- gether, and he had regained his usual composure.

"Just a second," he said. "I'll push it out of the way."

"Never mind. Please finish what you were doing. I'm really in no hurry, and your job's more im- portant than mine." Then, when she saw his gaze go up and down her well cut khaki uniform, she added, "Just an ambulance driver with a day off to visit her family."

"Oh! That's great. I think you English girls are great."

"No compliments, Mr. American. You are one, aren't you?" He nodded. "Go back to your work and I'll watch you, if I may. I'm passionately fond of motors."

He made no objection. In point of fact he was always delighted to find someone who shared his en- thusiasm for mechanical things, and when that someone happened to be a lovely girl he would prob- ably have said that it was "wiz- ard."

They stood together, shoulder to shoulder, she watching intently, he working. From the way he went about it she saw that he knew what he was doing. For a long moment he worked in sil- ence, speaking neither to wrench nor plane nor girl.

About these two young people, intent on the job at hand and for the time being completely obli- vious of the world outside, with its thundering, destructive war, the green countryside of Kent smiled under the September's sun. So far the angry force of Hitler had not struck here. Except for the pres- ence of the Spitfire, and the two uniforms, war seemed far away indeed. Birds sang in the trees, or ran along the well kept fairways and over the greens in search of worms and bugs. There was no other sound on land or in the sky, except the clicking of steel as the aviator worked on.

It was the girl who broke the silence. "My brother's a pilot."

"Pursuit pilot. He's just received his wings."

"What squadron?" The question was asked more out of politeness than from curiosity. Half conscious politeness at that. He had almost completed the job and was too intent on getting his plane ready for the air to have any real interest in the girl's brother. "The Hornets," she answered. "He's joining them soon now, and terribly happy at the prospect. He says it's the best squadron in the R.A.F."

The American straightened up and, without speaking, led the girl by her arm around to the body of the plane. He pointed with the wrench to a foot-long yellow hornet painted there on the side.

"Oh!" she exclaimed. "How splendid. Do look out for him."

"What's his name?" "The girl laughed. "The same as mine. You might ask what that is, but I shan't force you. I'm Wendy Bruce, and my brother's name is Philip. And now?" She held out a slender, brown hand that one could see was firm and mus- cular.

They shook hands with the frank comradeship of youth, made doubly frank and sincere by the fact that they were youth at war, living dan- gerously, sharing more or less to the same degree a common danger, constantly seeing death just around the corner.

"I'm David Hutchinson." She knew the name, but did not show it, believing rightly that this would embarrass him. Further- more, she knew that R.A.F. pilots were reticent about themselves, and hated anything that had the sus- picion of personal publicity at- tached to it. They did not like to become well known to the public. There was a sort of superstition about it.

Yet David had gained a reputa- tion in spite of himself. A pilot cannot shoot down enemy planes day after day and hope to be ig- nored by the newspapers, and pho- tographs of him appeared at regu- lar intervals in the weekly mag- azines. When he was decorated with the Distinguished Flying Medal, the Illustrated London News had carried a full page of snapshots of him, drinking ale at the officers' mess, lighting a cigarette, sitting in the cockpit of his plane, buckling on his parachute, and what not. Some candid camera artists had done this to him without his knowledge.

And the fact that he was one of the first Americans in the Air Force to bring down two planes on the same afternoon caught the public's fancy. He was in mortal of becoming some sort of a hero, and he hated the word. On the whole, however he thought very little of these things, busying himself with his plane and trying to live up to its magnificent perfection in the air. For this he kept training like an athlete smoking and drinking in moderation, and his clear blue eyes were quick and far-seeing.

"And now if you will be so kind as to keep an eye on the sky, you may soon see a Hornet. I'll give this motor another look," said David as Wendy looked anxiously at sundrenched clouds.

Your Life Insurance in Wartime

IN TIME OF WAR, the security underlying your life insurance takes on a new mean- ing. More than ever before, security for the family is paramount.

While supporting that security, your life insurance dollars, invested in Government Bonds, are helping to buy planes, tanks, ships, guns, and all the other implements of war. Thus your life insurance dollars are helping to safeguard American lives and liberties.

At the end of 1941, Metropolitan had a total of $1,214,931,424.25 invested in United States Government Bonds... about 22% of the Company's assets. In addition, $104,982,562.49 was invested in Canadian Government Bonds.

In both the United States and Canada, life insurance dollars are helping to finance your defense housing, transportation facilities, the production of power, and the industries which are pouring out the steel, chemicals, oil, food, munitions, and other materials needed for the war. Each month more and more of your life insurance dollars are flowing from the chan- nels of peace into investments that serve war uses and war industries.

Because of public appreciation of life in- surance, increased efficiency of our agents, and the better national income during 1941, lapses and surrenders were at the lowest rate recorded in the Company's history.

In fulfilling its obligations to policyholders during 1941, Metropolitan paid or credited to policyholders and their beneficiaries more than $567,900,000. Of this amount, more than $383,700,000 was paid or credited to living policyholders.

Metropolitan is a mutual company. Its assets are held for the benefit of its policy- holders and their beneficiaries. In the mean- time, these assets are, as always in the past, being used to help meet national needs.

JAP NAVAL UNITS SHELLING ISLANDS

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Japanese naval units are shelling several ports on three islands of the Philippines, the war department reported today, and are landing troops from a convoy of four transports escorted by a cruiser at Zamboanga on the southwest tip of Mindanao.

There was virtually no ground or air activity over General Douglas MacArthur's position in Bataan peninsula, the department's communique said, but the Japanese apparently are attempting to extend their occupation of the southern islands of the Philippine group.

Mindanao is the largest island of the Philippine group, and the region of Davao on Mindanao has been the only sizeable area occupied by the Japanese in the entire archipelago except for the large northern island of Luzon, on which Manila is located and where MacArthur's main forces are fighting.

BLANKET OF SNOW TIES UP TRAFFIC

Four-and-a-Half-Inch Fall Recorded Here; Schools Feel Effect

Ninety-six students were absent at Salem High school, the largest absentee report at the High school for any one day this year, Principal B. G. Ludwig said.

Rural schools were hard hit. Supt. of Schools W. E. Roberts said at Lisbon that some of the schools remained closed today because pupils could not reach their destination.

School buses stalled in the snow in numerous places. Eighteen pupils were on a bus which stalled in a drift on the Township line road near Lisbon. A wreck truck which went to the scene also got stuck, and a county snow plow was pressed into service.

Only 15 out of an enrollment of 140 pupils showed up at the Elkton school.

Columbiana county courthouse offices worked with skeleton crews today since many employees who live in Salem, East Liverpool and Wells-ville failed to make it through the drifted roads. One car from Wells-ville reached the courthouse after a journey requiring more than two hours and 20 minutes.

Lisbon schools reported 282 students out of 1,100 absent.

Akron and Cleveland escaped with only about two inches of snow today. At Columbus and other downstate points there was only a light coating.

Several power lines were down at Wells-ville as a result of the storm. An official Ohio forecast called for the snow to end tonight.

COMPETITION TO SPUR WAR PLANTS

CLEVELAND, March 3.—War industry workers, shifts of workers, and companies which make outstanding production speed records will be cited by the city.

After hearing Donald M. Nelson, chief of the war production board, call for "that extra bit of drive, that extra head of steam, that extra measure of determination" last night, Mayor Frank J. Lausche thought Nelson's idea for a system of competitions between plants and workers might be aided by the city government.

The mayor immediately telegraphed Nelson the city's collaboration could be expected "in whichever manner you suggest," but without waiting for suggestions, announced he would appoint a "mayor's war production committee" to help award city citations.

Awards will be given to companies and to individual workers, the mayor said.

ATHENS, March 3.—A falling tree killed Herbert Bolin, 45, of nearby Amesville.

Traffic Death Toll Increases In 1941

Motor vehicle traffic claimed 2,458 lives in Ohio during 1941 as compared to 2,070 fatalities for 1940, according to official statistics just released.

This increase in deaths was attributable to the increase in traffic due to national defense, announced H. G. Sours, director, Ohio department of highways. The division of traffic and safety of the highway department estimates motorists drove 19 billions of miles in Ohio last year, an increase of approximately one and one-half billions of miles over the previous year.

On a travel basis, said Director Sours, the Ohio death rate for 1941 was eight per cent higher than for 1940.

Of the 2,458 traffic deaths in the state last year, approximately one third were on state highways outside municipalities. There were 888 deaths on rural state highways during 1941 against 741 during 1940.

"This increase," Director Sours cited, "was due, as for the state as a whole, to the great increase in motor travel on these highways."

Total accidents on state highways outside municipalities, as reported to the division of traffic and safety of the state highway department, numbered 16,268 last year as compared to 13,161 the previous year. The injury toll in these accidents in 1941 reached 13,647 against 11,077 in 1940.

Collisions between motor vehicles accounted for almost half of the 1941 fatality toll on rural state highways—415 fatalities. Non-collision accidents made up one-third of the mortality toll—251 persons killed. Pedestrian accidents killed 137 persons, approximately 15 per cent of the number of deaths on the state highways outside municipalities.

More than ever since her debutante days will the mature woman want to look her best this spring. The skirt falls from a fitted midriff, and has gathered fullness in the center and a peg drape at the sides. Center she is shown wearing a black crepe dress with a separate jacket. It has a white removable pique banding that can also be removed for laundering. A black hat with white wings and black nose veil complete the costume. The print, right, is pure silk with gray background and white stylized Indian arrowhead design. The tiny cuffs and crisp white dicky are faille. The hat is red felt, taped with white, and has two white felt feathers stitched with red.

It has been estimated the five ships, loaded to the maximum, at one trip will carry enough ore to produce the steel of eight destroyers. Two of the five freighters are under construction at Lorain, O.

Dressed to Kill

This strange-looking man is a German soldier, fighting on the Russian front. Recently, Nazi Propaganda Minister Paul Goebbels addressed an appeal for all kinds of warm clothing for the German forces on the Russian front. Quakers Eliminated From Sectional Tourney By Lehman, 45-40

Canton Quintet Enjoys Hot Night; Bad Third Quarter Ruins Salem Victory Hopes

Ray McGaffick Paces Assault With 11 Points As Six Seniors Make Final Appearance In Red and Black Spangles

A bad third period in which they counted only five points robbed the Salem High Quakers of victory and advancement into the second round of the sectional tournament last night as they bowed to Canton Lehman by a 45-40 count in the Youngstown South court. The loss gave the locals a final record of 14 wins and six setbacks for the campaign.

The first quarter was fought tooth and nail as both teams hit the hoop for eight points. Jack Finn, the Bears' six-foot, five-inch center, accounted for six of the Canton tallies while the Salem scoring was split among four players.

Both teams opened scoring drives in the second stanza with the Red and White eagles taking a 23-20 lead at the half. They made their shots count and as a result made a very high percentage of their action shots. Don Trenary, a tough lad up from the reserve squad, tallied six to pace the polar bears while Sam Pridon and Sal Guappone scored four each for the Quakers.

Seniors End Careers
Salem suffered from its "bad quarter" complex and netted only five points in the third chapter while the Cantonites dropped in nine to extend their lead to 32-25. Capt. Ray McGaffick, one of the eight seniors winding up their Salem High careers, tossed in four of those five points while Bill Kloss tallied the same number for the Bears.

Each team uncorked its biggest scoring spree in the final frame when the Quakers outscored the Canton rivals, 15-13, to chop the lead to five points just before the final whistle. McGaffick and Bob Scullion accounted for nine of the 15.

A decided lack of height under the basket possibly cost the locals the ball game as they failed to retrieve the ball from the backboards. The ranger Canton club took advantage of this handicap and, except for the time in the final quarter, controlled the backboards almost as they pleased.

The Quakers showed some of their best ball of the season as their smooth passing attack clicked on the vast South floor but they were unable to hit the shots which they set up with a various assortment of plays. Time after time the Brownmen took great pains to set up a shot only to miss it and see the Lehman players capture the rebound.

In the last quarter both teams threw caution to the winds and concentrated on flipping the ball through the rims. At several stages of the period, the Quakers cut the

Derringer Wins Law Suit

TAMPA, Fla., March 3.—A circuit court jury has awarded $1,000 damages to Paul Derringer, Cincinnati pitcher, in his $65,000 suit against an electrical supply company for injuries he claimed were received in 1940 when his head struck a scaffolding as he left the store.

Derringer sued for $65,000 but his attorney explained they sought reimbursement only for a $5,000 salary cut he said he was forced to take this year, plus about $1,000 doctor's fees and "reasonable" compensation. Derringer contended the blow caused him to have "double vision" and impaired his effectiveness as a pitcher.

MOTORS WIN OVER CARROLLS AS CAVS TAKE 12TH IN ROW

Cavs Defeat West Side by 36-30; Buckeyes Top Tradesmen, 31-22

Paced by Sammy Drakulich, who parted the cords for 10 points, the Althouse Motors five again defeated the Carroll Club, 34-25, on the Memorial building floor last night. In a rough game, with both teams receiving plenty of foul shots, the Motors took and held their lead almost all the way. The winners made eight fouls of 11 awarded them and the Carrolls made 7 of 9 free throws given them. Sammy Drakulich tallied six of those converted by Althouse.

The Motors scoring was well divided with Drakulich heading the list with 10 points. Ed Jeffries, Gordy Scullion had eight apiece and Al Carlos seven. Bob "Buck" Ritchie once more paced the Carrolls in the box score as he dropped through eight points. The rest of the losers' scoring was well split among the other players.

The Cavaliers won their 12th consecutive game last night as they trimmed the West Side A.C., 38-30. With Lenny Robbins leading a well-balanced scoring attack, the Cavs took an early edge and defended it until the end of the battle. Every member of both teams broke into the scoring column with Robbins pacing the Cavs with eight and Wayne Hahn scoring the same number for the West Siders. The rest of the scoring for both teams was pretty evenly divided.

In the other game on the evening's slate, the Buckeyes came through with a 31-22 win over the Trades Class. Dick Ellis, Dick Boughton and Art Chappell flipped in 10, eight and seven to feature for the winners while Bob Buckman, Ralph Landwert and L. Buckman combined to tally 20 of the losers points.

CUB HOPE

PAUL ERICKSON
ON WHOM THE CHICAGO CUBS ARE DEPENDING TO ROUND OUT THEIR PITCHING STAFF FOR THE COMING SEASON

HE WAS THE WILDEST OF THE WILD WHEN HE STARTED OUT WITH PONTIAC CITY IN 1937, AVERAGING OVER ONE WALK PER INNING

UNDER MANAGER JIMMY WILSON'S INSTRUCTION PAUL SHOWED STEADY PROGRESS. LATE LAST SEASON HE TURNED IN VICTORIES OVER THE PEANUTS, FIGHTING DOGS AND CARDINALS AND SAUT OUT THE PIRATES WITH A LONE HIT

PITCH IT—I'LL DUCK!

HE HAD THE BOYS A LITTLE PLATE SHY IN THE MINORS. WITH HIS WILDNESS HE HAD A REAL FAST BALL AND AS A RESULT CAME UP TO THE MAJORS WITH QUITE A STRIKEOUT RECORD

By Jack Sords

Apparently baseball still is a young man's game. Mel Ott was 33 yesterday and veteran writers in the Giants' camp say he doesn't look much older than when he first stroled in 17 years ago. And the Braves' Johnny Cooney, who will be 41 March 18, indignantly denies that he intends to take things easy this year. He says he feels better than last spring. Before starting for the Yanks' camp, 42-year-old Coach Earle Combs took a physical fitness test with a bunch of kids from Eastern Kentucky teachers' college and outscored most of the star athletes.

Today's Guest Star
Paul Pinckney, Rochester (N. Y.) Democrat and Chronicle: "So NYU drops football, eh? At long last, a 'merciful killing' in inter-collegiate sports."

Tourney Opens Tonight
COLUMBUS, March 3.—A 73-d session of ten pin blasting started tonight on a gleaming new 36-lane layout in the 42nd annual American Bowling Congress.

Gov. John W. Bricker opens the firing ahead of 108 five-man teams in the first three shifts of the Ohio State fairgrounds coliseum. The first 36 teams—fr. Ohio, Michigan, Texas, Illinois, New York, Kentucky, Indiana, Pennsylvania—will break the ice 7:30 a. m.

Following at two hour intervals will be the Ohio State Elks, the squad, representing 30 cities, and 36 Columbus teams, the "dog watch" shift.

A $450 purse has been posted for the 36 "ice breakers" team prizes ranging from $100 for the 25th to $25 for ninth. Prizes for the 10 classes in the entire tournament total $250,000.

Meyers Quits Baseball

HAIRSBURG, Pa., March 3.—
 Billy Meyers of the Chicago Cubs insisted today he isn't a holdout—he just doesn't want to "play baseball any more, vowing "I've had enough."
 Refusing to take a cut from the $12,000 he earned last year, the 31-year-old shortstop now is working as an extra fireman on the Pennsylvania railroad, bringing home $9.88 to $8.34 a day—when he works.
 "I've disclosed the Cubs wanted to slash his pay "a good bit," adding "I'd take less money, if I signed, than when I broke into the majors."
 So far as he's concerned
 "They can do anything they want with me—sell me, trade me or release me—but I'm quitting for good."

BAKERSFIELD, Cal.—The shooting of glass telephone wire insu-lators, necessary for air raid yarn-ings, has been classified here as a fifth column activity, with corresponding penalties. Almost 500 have been shot away in the last few weeks.

 balcony slaying of Dorothy Broz, his former schoolmate, Clarence McDonald, 17, is shown in his jail quoted the youth as saying, "I tric chair. I have nothing to live for now."

WAVELL RETURNS TO POST IN INDIA

Supreme command of Fight For Indies Is Turned Over to Dutch

The statement made plain that the move meant no change in plans for the general coordination of strategic policy, but had been taken for tactical considerations.

There was a hint that the Wavell transfer might have political as well as a military significance, for well-informed sources in London believed it could foreshadow a British offer of dominion status to India.

Wavell, one of the most respected Allied generals, was regarded as a man who could make the most of the upsurge of national feeling that would result in India and make it a fighting force.

India's defense bulks large in the strategy of the United Nations, for through it is the land route that the Japanese would have to traverse if they tried to join hands with any synchronized Axis drive through the Middle East.

However, while the United Nations still were forced to fight holding actions, except in Russia, there was official assurance that preparations for offensive operations of an important character were being pushed with all possible speed.

Will Carry Fight to Foe
Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the U. S. fleet, and General George C. Marshall, U. S. army chief of staff, both declared yesterday that the armed forces were getting ready to carry the fight to the foe.

King, in one of the few statements he has made since he took charge of the fleet, told the nation not to expect miracles.

"Appropriate measures are being taken," he asserted, "to strengthen the key points of these communications, with a view to developing an offensive, which slowly, but surely, will gain scope and power as we gain strength, through the production of aircraft, ships and guns."

"Currently, therefore, the United States fleets are carrying on with the basic idea to 'do more than your best with what you've got.' This means to take and make every opportunity to harass and damage the enemy, while building soundly for his ultimate defeat."

Once communications have been established and assured, it was pointed out, the army can proceed with what General Marshall called "the business of carrying the war to the enemy." This day may be six or twelve months away, experts estimated, but they did not consider such a time lapse excessive, considering the immensity of the work incidental to mounting a world-scale offensive.

Donald M. Nelson, war production chief, told American industry and workmen, in effect, that they would have to work like trojans and match the efforts of the armed services by supplying them with the tools of victory.

DESTROYER SUNK OFF JERSEY SHORE

Only 11 Survive As United States Ship Goes Down Off Cape May

Pearl Harbor; the tanker Natchez, torpedoed in unidentified waters; and the coast guard cutter Alexander Hamilton, torpedoed off Iceland.

Loss of the Alexander Hamilton with moderate casualties was announced Feb. 23. The following day the loss of the destroyer Truxtun and the store ship Pollux in a storm off Newfoundland with a total loss of 189 officers and men was reported by the navy.

The Truxtun, the Reuben James and now the Jacob Jones were all of the old world war four-stacker type of destroyer. The Jacob Jones was launched Nov. 11, 1918, a 1,300-ton vessel armed with four-inch guns and capable of a speed of 35 knots. She was equipped also with 12 torpedo tubes.

Lieutenant Commander Black took command of the Jacob Jones April 14, 1941. He was 38 years old, and a native of New Jersey.

High School's Flag To Move Out Front

School board members, at a brief meeting Monday night, approved George W. Baillie's recommendation that the American flag be flown in front of the High school building to replace one which has been on display on a pole atop the building night and day.

A 30 or 35 foot flag pole may be erected on the south lawn.

The board also went on record as favoring the installation of "panic bars" on all doors at the Fourth Street school building as recommended by a state inspector. The main doors already are equipped with the automatic releases.

Bills totaling $2,242.94 were ordered paid.

Approval was given to the transfer of the Damascus road school bus route from L. W. Boston to C. J. Lippiatt. Lippiatt, who also will take over Boston's Butler township school transportation contract, will be paid $2 a day for picking up Salem pupils who live on the Damascus road.

REPORT HUGE NEW RUSSIAN OFFENSE

Nazis Acknowledge Soviet Opening New Assaults On Entire Front

These statements were relayed to Switzerland and Sweden, in apparent contradiction to the Axis policy of minimizing rough going. A Berlin dispatch of the Zurich newspaper Die Tat stated that Russia obviously was starting "a fantastic effort to bring about a decision."

A dispatch from Moscow said that streams of Russian soldiers marched through the capital on their way to join the front-line campaigners.

Spotted By Scouts

This would indicate a basis for German declaration that Nazi aerial scouts had seen great columns of fresh Soviet soldiers moving up; that many 52-ton tanks and long-range guns were assaulting German positions in the Donets basin and the Crimea.

Berlin, however, may be over-emphasizing the situation to cover fresh German activity or to convince London and Washington that Russia does not actually need the opening of the second front which her leaders have sought.

Indicating new German military activity—offensive or defensive—in Nazi-occupied Norway, an Oslo announcement said the coast of Statland, a peninsula jutting into the sea about 120 miles north of Bergen, had been barred to civilians. Coastal residents were moved.

Escape Military Jail

CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 3.—Edward C. Burns, 21, of Euclid, O., and two other soldiers escaped from military confinement at Fort Francis E. Warren yesterday. Sheriff George Carroll said they shot a motorist in the arm and took his automobile.

MORGENTHAU HAS NEW TAX PROGRAM

Nine and a Half Billion Program "To Be Felt In Every Home"

a person's taxable income would be taxed at the rate of 16 per cent, instead of the present minimum rate of 6 per cent. Tax rates would increase rapidly until a maximum rate of 90 per cent would apply to income in excess of $5,000,000. The present maximum is 81 per cent.

Overall, the increase in income taxes would average 60 per cent, but the increase is more than 100 per cent in the lower brackets where the vast majority of people are affected.

Major changes also were proposed by Morgenthau in the case of corporation taxes, as follows:

1. Corporation "normal" income tax—unchanged at 15 to 19 per cent for corporations making up to $25,000, and between 11 and 31 bigger corporations.

2. Corporation surtax—present surtax of 6 to 7 per cent to be abolished, but be replaced by a "special war surtax" of 16 per cent on corporations earning less than $25,000, and between 11 and 31 per cent on bigger corporations.

3. Excess profits—method of computation (heretofore a major issue) unchanged, but range of tax rates increased from present 35 to 60 per cent to a scale of 50 to 75 per cent.

4. Repeat existing "declared value excess profits" and capital stock taxes.

Heavier Excise Taxes

Fifteen items were marked by Morgenthau for new or heavier excise taxes. They included new taxes of 1 cent a bottle on soft drinks, candy and chewing gum would be taxed 15 per cent on the manufacturers' sales prices. The gasoline tax of 1½ cents a gallon would be doubled to 3 cents. Other increases would affect photographic apparatus, pipe line transportation, telephone and telegraph service, oil, beer, wines, distilled spirits, transportation of person, cigars, smoking tobacco, cigarettes, and cigarette papers.

Morgenthau's "loophole plugging" suggestions claimed that $200,000,000 additional annual revenue should be obtained from subjecting income from both existing and future issues of state and municipal securities to the income tax; $300,000,000 from requiring joint returns of married couples; $80,000,000 from eliminating or altering depletion allowances granted oil, gas and mineral concerns; and $100,000,000 from other, unspecified proposals.
